Camp Philosophy

The MU PTM Tennis Camp Philosophy is to improve the ability level and understanding of the game of tennis for each camper. We believe in a structured but fun environment where new skills are introduced and current skills are advanced. We believe in providing value for each camper's experience while in a safe and positive atmosphere.

Training

Campers are divided into groups based on ability level first. Training procedures are up-to-date methods governed by Tom Daglis' national experience as an academy coach and owner, national speaker and implementer, former USTA Sectional Zonal Coach, and trainer of sectional, national and world class players.

Training sessions include both live and dead ball drills and extensive match play around set parameters that expand each camper's competitive learning.

Areas of concentration include, stroke production, drill progressions, strategy and tactics, building confidence, and increasing match play skills, including the ability to recognize how a match progresses.

Training is conducted both off court in the classroom and on court at the Gene Clayton Tennis Center on campus, featuring eight brand new tennis courts, all with excellent lighting!
